Find 8 true bills, Betsy case is on

Testimony continued through Wednesday afternoon in the second Hurricane Betsy damage suit to go to trial before a Circuit Court jury here.

The case was brought by Mrs. Joseph Chabon and her son, Frank Joseph Chabon, against Phoenix Insurance Co. for damage to their home in Clermont Harbor in the storm.

The beachfront residence was over 400 to 500 feet away across a lagoon.

Twelve cases were considered by the jury and 25 witnesses examined. The true bills included three John Doe indictments, defendant not yet being in custody.

Jack L. Creel and Warren Bolware of Pearl River County were indicted for burglary and larceny in the Christmas break-in at TG&Y Family Center. An amendment to being processed to correct the name of another defendant in this case. No true bill was returned against John Sullivan of Harrison County.

Amos White, sentenced to one year in jail, suspended, for assault and battery with intent, was indicted for assault and battery involving the same female, Leo H. Anderson, Jr., and James Swafford, San Leandro, Calif., sailors, face armed robbery charges of L'il General Food Store on U.S. 90.

U.S. 90 traffic fatalities in 1967 rose to seven last weekend when three died as the result of a head-on collision shortly before 6 p.m. Monday on U.S. 90 near the Lake-shore intersection.

They were passengers in a car driven by Rev. James O'Riordan, assistant pastor of Fatima Parish in Biloxi, formerly of Our Lady of the Gulf in Bay St. Louis. A fourth priest, Rev. Anthony Fay, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Fayette, Mo., was also injured.

Mississippi Highway Patrolman Harold Skinner said the four were enroute from New Orleans to Biloxi to attend a Carlow Alumni convention when Father O'Riordan attempted to pass another vehicle and collided with a tractor-trailer truck.

Father O'Riordan was listed in good condition at Hancock General on Wednesday.

Father Fay was released Tuesday to allow him to accompany the bodies of the victims to Jefferson City. They were transported by private plane.

Funeral services for Adam, a native of Hancock County and resident of 1366 Dunbar, were at 10:45 a.m. Wednesday.

A veteran of World War II, serving in the U.S. Navy, Adam was a plumber and a member of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church.

Survivors are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Adam, Bay St. Louis; two sons, Randy and Bobby Adam, one sister, Mrs. M. A. (Lydia) Phillips, Bay St. Louis; two brothers, Joseph Adam, Little Rock, Ark., and Van T. Adam, Green Bay, Wis.

Services were in Riemann's Fahey-Whitfield Funeral Home with mass in Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church. Interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Safety main grand jury report topic

Emphasis is on greater traffic safety in the January grand jury's report returned Tuesday afternoon to Circuit Judge Leslie B. Grant after two days of deliberations.

Juniors, with Albert Hoda as foreman, found need for more policing of traffic, particularly on county roads. They expressed particular concern with reports of repeated violations of passing school buses when stopped to unload or load children. Some one on each bus should be designated to report the license number of violators so the sheriff can proceed against them.

Special attention also should be given by all law enforcement authorities to persons violating speed limits by dragging on county roads. When offenders are caught, they should be prosecuted promptly in the proper court and action instituted to (Cont. on Page 4-A.)

Mississippi Public Service Commission last week issued a certificate authorizing Coast Electric Power Assn. to proceed with improvements estimated at over $200,000, including a sub-station at Rocky Hill, regulator station at Necaise crossing and "heaving up" lines between the two. H.H. Shattuck, manager, said work begins immediately and will be completed by May 1.

MTF test role

opened in '66

Jackson M. Balch, manager of the $300 million test site, said the event really put the facility into high gear.

Other 1966 milestones at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's 23-square-mile facility were the longest firing of clustered rocket engines in history and the making of a government-industry operation team into a single unit with a common goal.

During the past year additional successful firings of the 1 1/2 x 33 foot test complex were completed in celebration of the unit, test-craft and crew and support teams.

The first flight range of the S-II component delivered to MTF Aug. 19 underwent two pre-flight acceptance test firings in December. It is being shipped to Kennedy Space Center, Fla. today after detailed oval-rail and flight certification.

will become part of the first Saturn V rocket scheduled to launch an Apollo spacecraft into earth orbit during the first half of 1967. The initial firing of the five-engine S-II stage, Dec. 1, lasted 294 seconds, more than the 28-minute "burn" time required of the stage in flight and was the longest firing of clustered rockets recorded. The S-II is the largest hydrogen-fueled rocket known.

A test model of the even larger and more powerful Saturn V first stage, the S-I-C, arrived at MTF in October and was installed in the 407-foot high dual-position test stand. It is undergoing tests leading to a static firing later this month. The S-I-C is 139 feet long and produces the equivalent of 160 million horsepower with five hydrogen-fueled rocket engines.

Construction of the more than 60 buildings and facilities in the first phase of development was essentially completed.

BHS open house set for Feb. 19

Sunday, Feb. 19, was fixed as the date to show off to the public the new Bay Senior High School on Blue Meadow Road, then trustees of the Municipal Separate School District met Monday night.

The open house will hold from 2 to 6 p.m. with the Parent-Teacher Assn. in hand to handle refreshments. High school seniors will conduct tours of the building.

An informal ceremony marking opening of the new gymnasium was approved for Friday night when the Tigers also on Hancock North Central. A welcome address will be given by the boys' and girls' games when trustees, officials of Bay St. Louis and Waveland and members of the board of supervisors will be introduced.

The board approved Superintendent J. D. McCulloch's recommendation to issue five-time passes to the game to all parents and present school board members and their wives. Tickets will be $2.00; pay Baltimore No. 17 to W. M. Cress.

ROYAL ENTRANCE - King Nereus I, Cornelius Herlihy, escorts Queen Doris to the throne at the Krewe of Nereid ball on Saturday at St. Joseph Academy.

Schools, city split Herlihy reigns as Nereid I

Re-evaluation of all real property within the city school district moved another step ahead Monday night when school trustees agreed to split with City Commission Council the cost of underwriting the study.

Robert L. Hamilton, board president, said City Hall had transmitted the request to him, estimating the cost would run between $25,000 and $30,000. He noted that about 2/3 of the taxes collected by the city go to the school district.

Commission Council has interviewed one prospective firm to do the appraisal and another to be checked, according to J. Rubea Griffin, acting in an attorney for his law partner, Sam L. Foy, Jr. Checking assessments on all houses in the district will take at least eight to nine months so the schools may not get full benefit of the re-evaluation this year, he warned. However land and commercial properties will be first on the list and new assessments on those will more than offset the school district's share of the cost, Griffin observed.

School trustees concurred that if the city had not reassessed U. S. 90 property within the district last fall, their assessment would be in the worst shape. Superintendent J.D. McCulloch and Hamilton recalled $16,000 had to be shifted from the proposed school budget even then to bring it in line with estimated revenues. A determination of completion over the new U. S. 90 appraisal was promptly equated by the majority of the board.

McCulloch stated that Bay High School trustees met Wednesday through Saturday and he hopes to be successful in his bid for the district's center in the new gym next month.

Calvo code of American Dance was the theme of the glittering spectacle presented Saturday by the Krewe of Nereid when Cornelius K. Herlihy was crowned king at the first annual ball masque in St. Joseph Academy gymnasium.

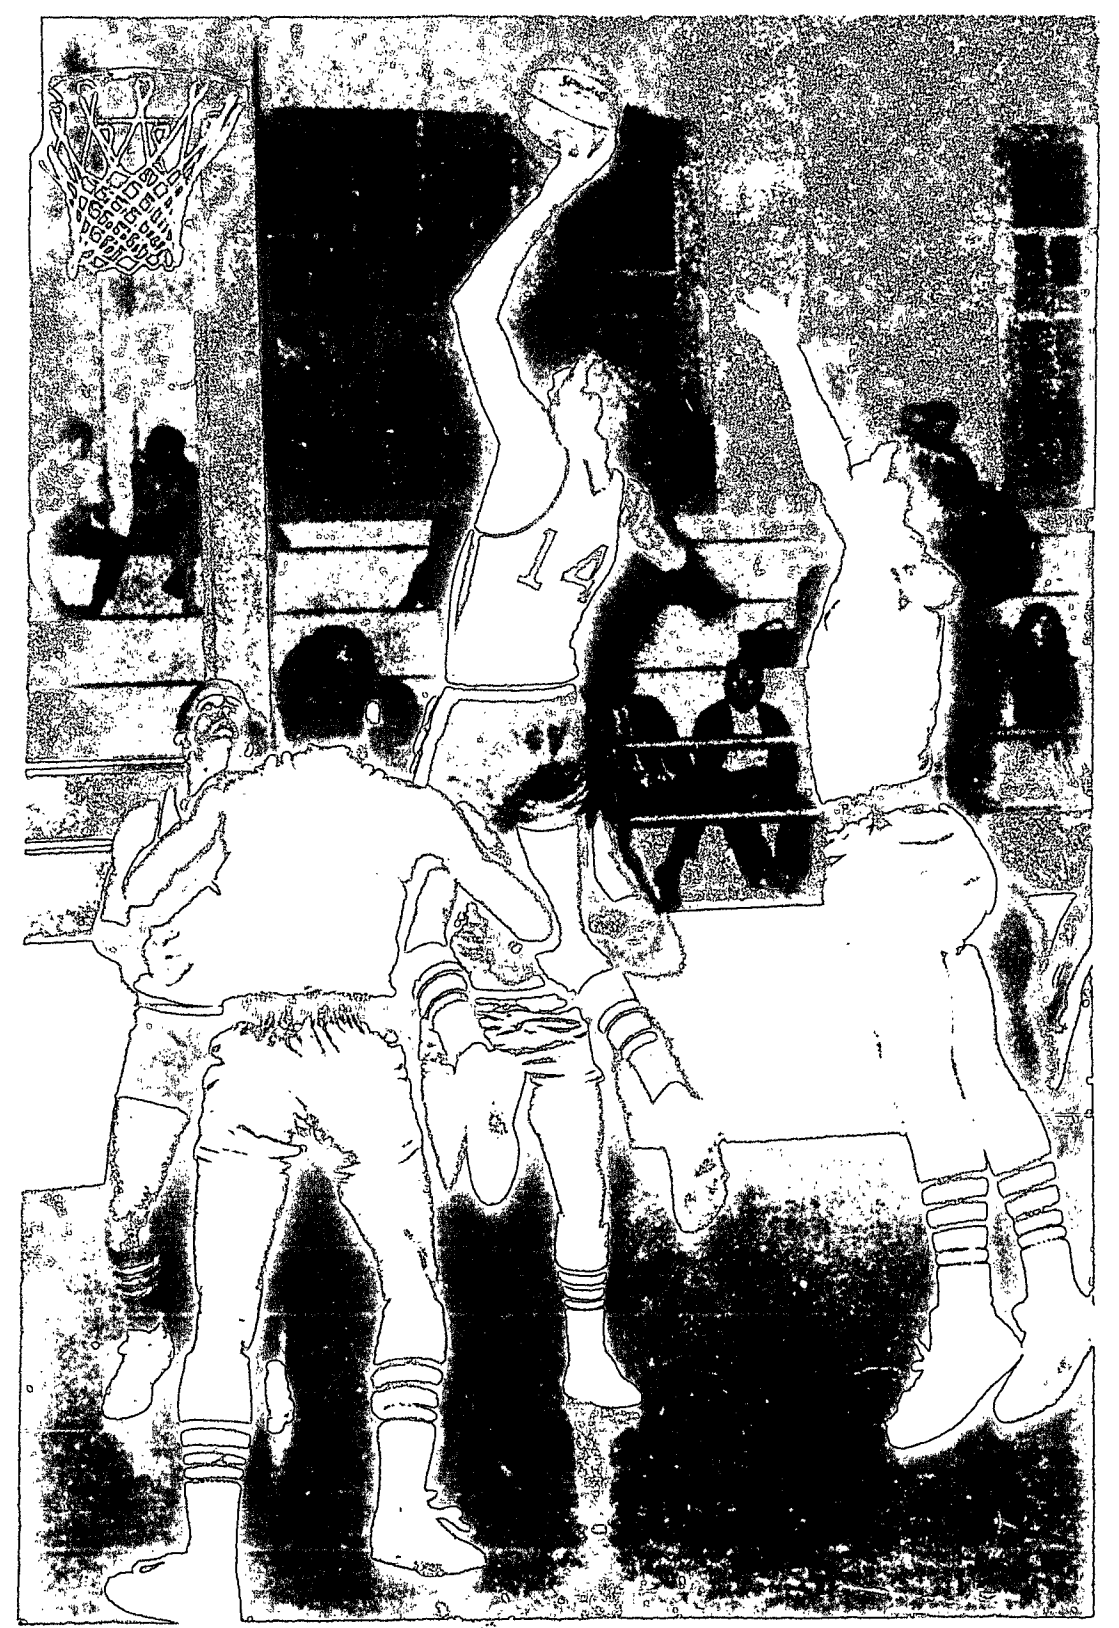

The Krewe of Nereid is a group of women from Waveland and adjacent areas. Nereid were the 50 mythical daughters of Doris and Nereus, who were the hand-maidens of King Neptune, god of the sea.

After the unveiling of the royal crest, the krewe in brilliantly colorful costumes, appeared each of the groups dressed to portray the dance of their period. The captain, garbed in sparkling corset, welcomed guests and welcomed that the ball begin.

Musical of the court, governed as musical instruments - French horn, drum, viola, banjo, guitar and cornet were escorted by committeemen to their positions on the stage.

Following the traditional fanfare, Queen Doris, I. Mrs. Charles Johnson, escorted. In her train were troubadours Sam Varg, John Jettison, James Brown and Bernard Smith.

Officers of the krewe then escorted John A. Smith, Phyllis K. McLaughlin, John Lopez, Jr., John L. Jettison and Harold A. (Cont. on Page 4-A.)

Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—However much North Vietnam's "new attitude" toward possible truce talks may be discounted, and however genuine it occasionally proves to be, this much must be said for it: It is the first time Hanoi spokesmen have publicly declared to Western newsmen that their previous pre-conditions for a truce were not pre-conditions at all, but simply points for discussion.

When this is added to the fact that a New York Times correspondent from the United States was permitted to enter North Vietnam and talk with government leaders, and U.N. Secretary General U Thant's earlier statement that a cessation of bombing might pave the way for bargaining, it does provide some ground for hope.

In addition, aged Ho Chi Minh is reported by French diplomats to be personally weary of the war despite his boasts that his country will fight 10 or 20 or 50 years if necessary to win, and almost as anxious as President Johnson to go down in history as a man who finally brought peace to his people.

But there are big and important questions which remain as barriers to any early peace, from Hanoi's continued insistence that the United States must cease bombing North Vietnam unconditionally and without promises of reciprocal de-escalation to whether the "new attitude" is what it appears to be.

Logic as President Johnson is to find a way out of his Vietnam dilemma, he still believes there must be a quid pro quo in any bargain. Even without military advisers warning against a full U.S. bombing, Johnson isn't a man to make concessions without at least a promise of a definite return.

Another big question is whether the New York Times report of Premier Pham Van Dong's statements was an accurate reflection of his views. The dispatch was subject to Hanoi censorship and misinterpretations in translation. In addition, we often have had disappointing experiences with communists over the real meaning of words.

There also is the question of the Viet Cong. Intelligence reports say they now have 280,000 men under arms in South Vietnam, an increase of 50,000 the past year. They have been battered in battle but definitely have not been destroyed. They still control one-third or more of the countryside. And they still insist there can be no peace in Vietnam unless they are given full control—which is one reason Premier Ky is adamant against dealing with them. Ky and his military government have no interest in surrendering their power to their enemies—at the very least they would have to run for their lives.

On the plus side, of course, is the obvious fact that Russia would welcome peace in Vietnam if it can be achieved without the communists losing face. And Red China is so involved in her own internal power struggle that she is believed less likely than ever to interfere strongly if Hanoi decides it's had enough.

Glass house dwellers

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, the flamboyant Harlem Democrat, has done more than his share of globe trotting, payroll manipulating and back-door wheezing and dealing. But the records of some of his colleagues who are casting stones back up his claim he is not the only chimer in Congress.

Rep. Gibbons of Florida, who helped start the fuss over Powell, is associated with a law firm back in Tampa which represents phosphate companies. Gibbons used his influence as a congressman to oppose a federal subsidy that would have brought cheap electrical power to competing phosphate companies in Idaho.

Rep. Burleson of Texas, whose House Administration Committee investigated Powell, once collected expense money from his committee for "official business" while he celebrated Thanksgiving and Christmas at his Texas home.

As for global gallivanting, almost one-third of Congress has returned recently from foreign vacations at the taxpayers' expense. Most of them took their wives along.

Rep. Passman of Louisiana, a severe critic of federal spending, traveled around the world spending the taxpayers' money wherever he went.

Rep. Wilson of California also circled the globe, stopping at tourist spots from Lisbon to Athens, Beirut to Bangkok. He apparently feels no obligation to explain his trip to the public, though it was financed by the public. He refused to answer any questions about it, telling his secretary he was too busy.

Rep. Flood of Pennsylvania just completed a 25-day trip to sunny South America, as has become his custom every winter.

Rep. Byrne of Pennsylvania toured Germany, Spain and Italy as the Army's guest. He insists that the trip was "all work and no pleasure" though he took along his wife to help enjoy the "work." Other congressmen, too numerous to single out, took group trips to far reaches of the globe. Dozens stopped in Paris, though President de Gaulle, by ousting NATO, has removed their main excuse for visiting the glamorous French capital.

This of course is why so many congressmen were so reluctant to chastise their colleague from Harlem for doing likewise.

No spy deal with Russia

Hints have been dropped secretly that Earl Warren, the Little Rock tourist sentenced to three years in a Soviet labor camp for stealing a cast-iron bear from a Leningrad hotel and buying rubles on the black market, could have his sentence suspended in return for the release of Soviet spy Igor Ivanov from an American prison.

U.S. Officials say, however, that this would simply encourage Russia to jail any American on some frivolous charge every time they wanted to make an exchange for a convicted spy. As a result, Washington has shown not the slightest interest in making a trade.

Federal aid foul ups

The Senate Subcommittee on Intergovernmental Relations, headed by Sen. Muskie of Maine, has been bombarded with complaints from local communities over federal aid foul-ups. Local authorities protest that they have become entangled in red tape whenever they have applied for the water and sewer facilities that Congress has authorized.

Four government departments—Agriculture, Commerce, Interior and Urban Development—have authority over these projects. Most applicants are totally confused over where and how to apply.

The correct place depends upon the nature of the project and the class of the community. In some cases, federal funds have been lost because the communities filed the wrong forms. They thought the inquiry forms were application forms. The filing time expired before the communities discovered their mistake.

Some cities have established full-time offices merely to study the available federal grants and to process the applications.

Joyce dinner set

For DSA, bosses

Joyce has re-established their annual Distinguished Service Award—Bessie Night banquet for Jan. 28 at Home's Restaurant on U.S. 90. Dick Thompson, general chairman, has announced. The banquet previously was on Jan. 21.

The banquet will begin at 7 p.m. with the dinner at 8. E. J. Marway will be master of ceremonies. Guest speaker will be announced later. Tickets for the banquet at $8 per person may be obtained from Thompson or Mae Hixon.

Applications for nominations for the DSA have been distributed to civic and church organizations, Thompson said. Those should be returned to him by Monday, Jan. 23. Other organizations or persons desiring to propose a nominee may get in touch with Thompson at Moore & Powell, North Beach.

Monday, Jan. 23, also is the deadline for nominations to be submitted by Joyce for their 2000 of the Year, according to Charles Carter, Jr., chairman for that project. The winner will receive a certificate of award at the banquet.

Bessie Night is an annual feature of the Joyce chapter throughout the nation in recognition of those who represent the aim of their Joyce chapter.

Joyce Week is being observed nationally Jan. 15-21 to focus attention on young men and the work they are doing. Mayor John A. Scalfaro has proclaimed this as Joyce Week to emphasize the job Bay St. Louis Joyce are doing in community development.

Letters to the Editor

Letters to the editor are always welcome. They should be on pertinent topics, in good taste and limited to 300 words. The Sea Coast Echo requires also that each letter be properly signed by the writer before it will be considered for publication. No letters unsigned or containing pseudonyms will be published.

Editor, Sea Coast Echo:

The estimate to connect my coverage line to the Bay St. Louis system is $400.

I do not have $400. I will have to borrow the money.

A lot of my friends say they are not planning to do anything unless forced to do so. One said the city would have to bring him to the Supreme Court.

My question: Can the city of Bay St. Louis force a property owner to connect up with the city system? What can the city do to me if I refuse to connect up with the city system?

Perhaps City Attorney Favre had the answers.

J. C. McCLOSKEY
Bay St. Louis.

Editor, Sea Coast Echo:

On Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 3, I was told that a rumor, emanating from your newspaper, claimed that the City County Public Library was on fire.

After ascertaining that there was no truth in the tale, I called your office to find out how such a rumor had started, and was told that it was just a "gag".

It may be that your staff is suffering from a truly macabre sense of humor, or it may be that to them the library is just a joke, but to the board of trustees, this has been a most unhappy incident.

Yours truly,
ADALINE K. SAMUEL
Chairman, City-County Public Library.

(EDITOR'S NOTE - The Echo has the greatest respect for the personnel of the City-County Library and only wishes there were more funds to improve it. Any gag, if there was one, was played on this office and certainly the people at the library knew its inaccuracy.)

Editor, Sea Coast Echo:

Thank you so much for your write-up you gave for the first aid and medical help classes sponsored by the Waveland Fire Department which started Jan. 9 at 7:30 p.m. in Waveland Town Hall. These will continue each Monday night.

The article was fine (so fine that I read the paper twice). I phoned your paper and blew my top. I received a call-back that the article was in the paper, 1st page, second section. Well, I looked and finally found a few lines, nothing like the article I wrote in. I phoned Mrs. (Glady) Noonan, secretary of the fire department, and she too was still looking for it.

I do not have time to phone everyone since I work in New Orleans but if anyone reads this letter, it is not too late to start the classes. The instructor, Mr. Carson Anna, is a very interesting speaker and teacher. He is giving his time. The instruction is free and anyone missing this opportunity will live to regret it because the life you may some day save may be your own.

MR. WILLIAM H. BRADFORD
39 Laurie St., Waveland.

Editor, Sea Coast Echo:

I am proud to be a member of the Waveland Carnival Club Krewe of Nereids.

I have been queen of a carnival ball, mald in 2 or 3 and have seen over a hundred balls in New Orleans of the big organizations.

I would like to go on record, as almost an expert in this line, that Waveland has given as good a show as any big organization.

I couldn't possibly pick out any individual as being best, everyone from the queen to the last member of the Krewe, did a wonderful job.

The reception at the parish hall was another howling success.

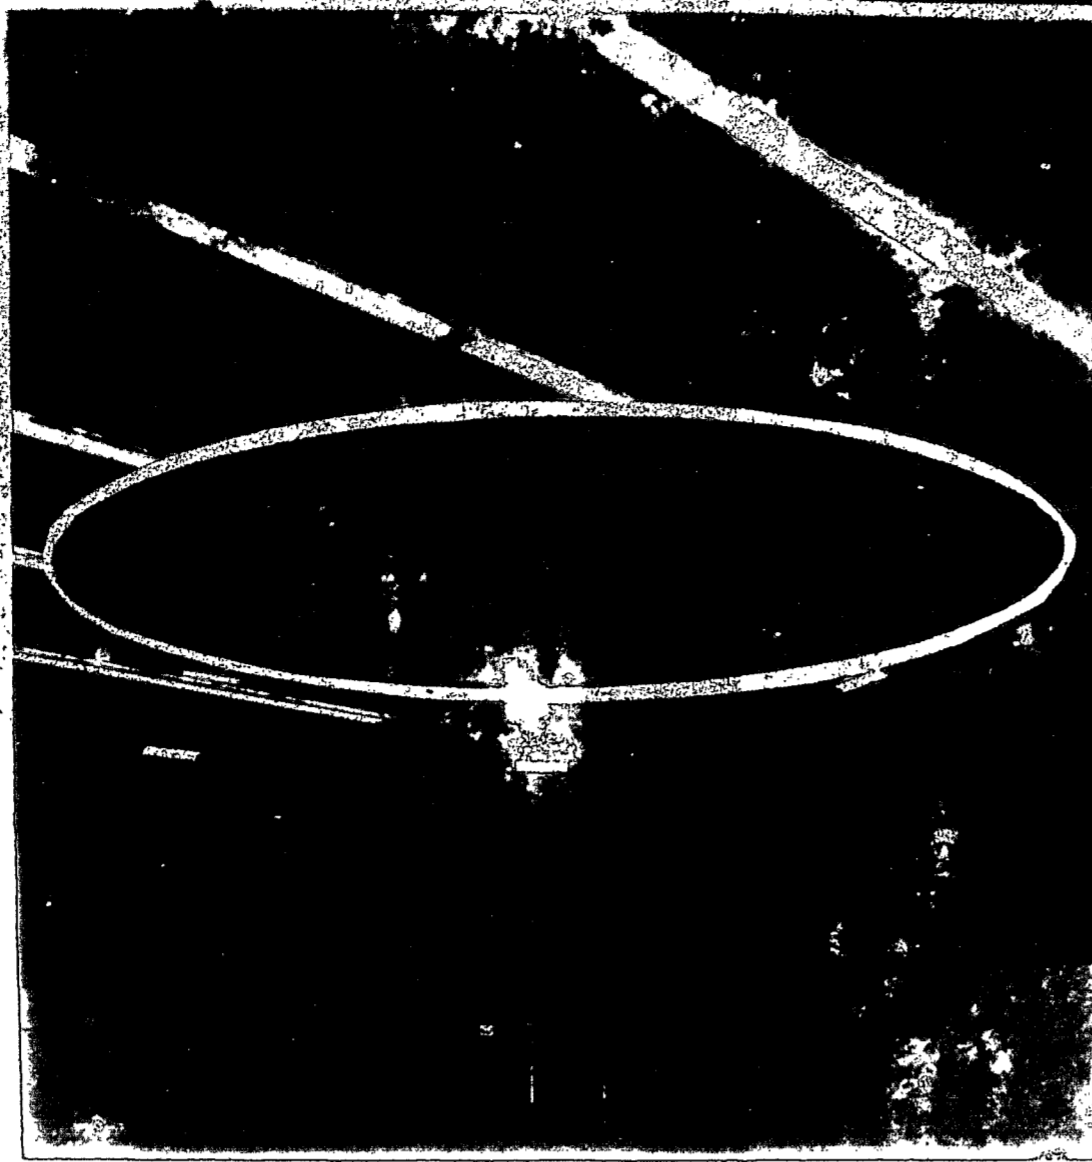

But wait, you have another big surprise from Nereids Organization. We are going to have a parade that will also be a spectacular. Watch Sea Coast Echo for date and time.

P.S. I was also mighty proud of the spectators, they were all well dressed and very appreciative, their applause and interest made us all feel like we had accomplished something.

Thanks again to everyone,
MRS. BEA GEORGI

TIGERDOME - Vastness of gymnasium at new Bay High School on Blue Meadow Road, dubbed by sportswriters as the Tigerdome, can best be gleaned by comparing distance between dome top and floor to height of flight of eagle looking up to bleachers. Tiger seemingly soaring from rafters is actually in center of floor offering defiance to visiting basketball teams. Bay High's Tigers will attempt to devour Hancock North Central's Hawks tomorrow night to open action in Tigerdome.

BHS 31st annual tourney opens in Tigerdome Wed.

A capacity crowd is expected to jam Bay High's new Tigerdome gymnasium on Blue Meadow Road when the school's 31st annual basketball tournament gets under way next Wednesday.

The tourney is considered one of the top athletic events of this area, 11 boys' teams and nine girls' competing for the coveted trophies to be awarded following the final Saturday night. Hancock North Central's boys and Pearl River Central's girls are defending champs.

Bay High Coach Wilmer (Woody) Seymour declined to attempt to predict the outcomes but his ace forward, Mike (Go-Go) Needles' past performances speak loud and clear. Mike recently broke the country all-time scoring record with 62 points in one game and figures to be the most important man in the tournament.

Girls' coach Billy Sills, however, was less reticent. He has contended since before the season opened that Bay High has the best senior in the area and its freshmen they will win the championship cup. The Tigerettes drew a bye in first round competition and play their first game at 8 p.m. Friday.

Girls' bracket for Wednesday, 5:30 p.m., Pearl River Central vs. Poplarville; Thursday, 5:30 p.m., St. Martin vs. Stone; 6 p.m., St. Joseph's Ac-demy vs. Harrison Central; Friday, 5:30 p.m., Pass Christian vs. Hancock North Central; 6 p.m., winner of PRC-Poplarville vs. Bay High. Semi-finals will be at noon and 2:30 p.m. Saturday and finals at 7:30.

Boys: Wednesday, 6:45 p.m., Pearl River Central vs. Ocean Springs; 8 p.m., Poplarville vs. Gulfport East; 9:15 p.m., Hancock North Central vs. St. Bernard; Thursday, 6:45 p.m., St. Martin vs. Long Beach; 9:15 p.m., winner of PRC-OS vs. Bay High; Friday 6:45 p.m., winner of Poplarville-Gulfport East vs. Pass Christian; 9:15 p.m., winner of HNC-St. Bernard vs. Stone. Semi-finals will be at 1:15 and 3:45 p.m. and the final event at 8:45.

"A Conservative View"

by James J. Kilpatrick

Within the next few days, wage-earners throughout the country will begin reading their first paycheck of 1967. If they are quick-witted, and look very closely, they will perceive that—proceed, change!—the government has deducted just a tiny bit more from their incomes.

Unfortunately, not many workers will pay more than passing attention to the increase of two-tenths of one per cent in their social security tax. Such is the politician's mastery of a tax system that the change is made so small that it is almost invisible. It is a small change, but it is a change, and it is a change that the government is making to its advantage.

In 1965, the maximum tax was $348. Last year the maximum tax was $354.40. In the coming year, the figure will go to $359.60. By 1967, if the calculation written into existing law remains unchanged, the maximum tax will go to $365.60.

These amounts represent the combined payments, of course, of both employee and employer, but that fact has limited relevance. To the employee, social security is merely one more charge against payroll, and it is immaterial whether the cost is passed on his ledger against labor or not. Yet the effect of the payroll tax is to depress the level of money wages, so that the employee, for all practical purposes, pays the "employer share" as well as his own.

It would be a useful exercise, though perhaps a little one, for the wage-earner to remove himself from his employer's long enough to contemplate the friendly fraud of old age "insurance" under the Social Security system. When the system first was established, back in 1935, it did indeed operate on a pay-as-you-go basis. The original cost was paid out of a pool of "contributions." This law required that a reserve be established "an occupied national obligation." Reserves were directly related to contributions, and the first cost established contribution rights by which the wage earner, or his estate, would get back, with interest, what he had paid in.

That was the good old days. Today social security still is broadly described as a "pay-as-you-go" system, but the term has taken on a happy-go-lucky definition. Not much is said of the worker's "rights," for to have a contractual right; to have only the revocable promise of Congress to pay whenever benefits is voted to pay, some time later on. The old reserves have disappeared today's cash flow is "contributions." The summary of a "pay-as-you-go" system, but to the extent that the fund board may collect contributions to the rapidly $400 billion in existing liabilities. Worst of all, the system operates with gross unfairness upon every wage-earner who is pressed into the system under the age of 39. He cannot win.

Isn't there a better way of handling a system of federally-administered retirement income? Two respected economists, Professors James M. Buchanan and Colin D. Campbell, recently have answered that question with a resounding affirmative.

Buchanan is chairman of the department of economics at the University of Virginia. Campbell, who has made a specialty of social security, teaches at Dartmouth. On Dec. 20, they collaborated in advancing a joint proposal for social security reform. Their plan, published in the "Wall Street Journal," has aroused much favorable comment—the press, it is certain to attract congressional attention.

What they are proposing, in brief, is first to recognize the social security debt for what it is—a national debt; they would direct the treasury to issue general obligation bonds specifically earmarked for payment of that debt. In a sense, this would be a more proper transaction, but the nature of the bonds would at once achieve an important goal from the moment the trust fund would be actuarially sound.

Of greatest importance to the young wage earner, the Buchanan-Campbell plan would permit a social security tax to be reduced on those workers who now are paying unfairly high taxes. Their new rates would be calculated on actuarial principles to produce future benefits rights geared to the total tax rate of 4.5 per cent would suffice to produce the same benefits now promised.

Finally, the plan would permit a worker voluntarily to withdraw from the social security system if he wished. This provision is that very few workers would withdraw, because the retirement benefits would be at least equal to the amount they would be paid under the current system under a private insurance plan. An element of individual freedom could be added, without detracting from the actuarial soundness of the social security system.

This is the Buchanan-Campbell plan. Barry Goldwater had considerable of this nature in mind early in 1964, when conferees chattered. "I'm for overhauling about of a voluntary system. But the principle is sound in every way, and it ought to have been applied to workers under 39. They are getting chattered themselves through payment of heavy social security taxes that neither they nor their estates may ever see again."

er, thither Communism?

London Johnson in Tuesday night's Union message probably surprised a lot of us. Not surprisingly he backed down on his previously expressed opinions on the Vietnam war. There was little else to say, however, and speculated he might ease the "great society" drive. Instead he asked for more programs extended and new ones promised everybody something, and questioned that the mishandled Indians need assistance, or that the limitation on income, which can earn without penalty, should not be an object to the President's call for income if we are to have this lush program.

In all of his great society and his globe-trotting foreign policy pronouncements he continued to use adjectives such as good, or clauses that must have, and thereby presupposes the wisdom of his opinions.

Many of his programs, particularly those which centered around increased federal control over lives, have many and valid faults, and Johnson was never answered as to whether programs taken together will not weaken us to the point of defenselessness against internal attack by the Communists. This, after all, for years has been the Communists' boast.

well's case so simple and of Congressman Adam Clayton Powell's chairmanship of the House Education and Labor Committee is one thing. To deny him his House is another.

Denying him the chairmanship the House is saying that he cannot spend House funds in his home. He has been doing, such as to his ex-wife that she never received.

Denying him from office goes a step farther. Constituents knew of the charges of illegal House funds and nevertheless re-elected him. Finally, they have the right to choose a representative, but they do not have any special right to which committee he is assigned. It is surprising, therefore, at the House's sudden change of Powell and particularly at the over-riding vote given the proposal. It is true that he can still find from its committee room, but he should be re-instated. It is also true that he will run for re-election in two years, but what then will the House of Representatives do?

Monday night's initial basketball game in the new Senior High gymnasium may well present problems, the least of which is the lack of rain. For a few weeks continues to be as dry as a bone, there is sure to be a plethora of people wise to park at the Johnson Shopping Center and walk from there.

teachers' role in '66 hospitals is cited

Supplies for all three VA hospitals on the Gulf Coast—Gulfport, Biloxi and Hattiesburg—were gathered by Mrs. Evans and her committee. Accounting were members of the organizations which have parties, high school students from Junior Red Cross, local schools plus managers of Wines-Davis and T&E stores.

These included old items as radios, clocks, stockings, handbags and jewelry which were used in hospital workshops. A money drive was also being conducted by the Red Cross, and many of the items were being sold at a low price.

Distribution of these supplies is by the Gulf Coast Hospital Volunteer Council which has a list of needs. Mrs. Evans said a list of items needed for the first quarter of 1967 which will be given to the hospitals in early April.

'66 at MTF...

(Cont. from Page 1-A.) Construction and collection of the new MTF station, decreased during 1966 to a little over 4,000. Of these, about 1,000 persons are still engaged in construction work and 3,000 are on the permanent operating staff.

North American Aviation, Inc. and Boeing Co., under prime contracts with NASA, are responsible for the design, development, manufacture and testing of the S-11 and S-12 aircraft, respectively. General Electric Co. operates and maintains the facility providing test services and technical test support to all tenants.

Agreements for mutual aid fire protection with communities surrounding the site and with two industrial firms pending large tracts of land in the area were continued and expected during 1966. Similar agreements were made for mosquito abatement control for some areas.

The new facility took a leading role during the year in community campaigns for the United Fund, home and traffic safety, whole blood for U.S. and allied forces in Vietnam, university extension courses, regional planning and a new airport.

Public visitors to the site totaled more than 17,000, including several hundred from foreign nations.

The public affairs office briefed and gave tours to 13,921 persons, displayed 16 exhibits of rocket facilities, made 107 photographic releases to the news media, gave 82 speeches at various places, issued 100 clearances and assisted in eight radio and TV specials. They spoke to 17,220 persons who visited Central Control Building.

The number and frequency of tests of the nation's largest space vehicle cranes at MTF will increase significantly during 1967 on the two single and one dual test stands all become available for use.

Many post-static checks are repeated during pre-launch tests performed at the Kennedy Center and time will be saved by combining the tests at one place," they said.

Another reason for the earlier shipment is to allow the second flight stage, the S-11-2, to be sent from the West Coast and placed in the captive test stand at MTF.

The S-11-2 is scheduled to leave California Jan. 23 and should be in position on the stand by Feb. 7.

The S-11-1 was static fired for more than six minutes on Dec. 1 and again for a similar time Dec. 30. It arrived at the site on Aug. 13, 1966, and was put into the stand on Aug. 19. Technical problems delayed the stage during the late months of last year. Some of these problems required repair of the oxygen tank and hydraulic cranes in the liquid hydrogen tank. In addition to the post-static firing tests to be done at the Kennedy Center the stage will also have a seal above the liquid hydrogen tank replaced and some engine parts will be changed.

City schools...

(Cont. from Page 1-A.) A group of people up for aid to government agencies would go a long way to easing pains of the $16,000 out. The federal money had not been anticipated in the budget, but it is out for any reason. It was based on 500 pupils being qualified.

The superintendent said the federal money would go to replace equipment in the old high school on Carroll Avenue which has been moved into the new senior high on Blum Meadow Road. The junior high plan on Carroll has no certain office or homelike equipment, he explained. Furnishing his quarters was about the only item of that nature included in the school construction bond issue, the rest having to come from district maintenance.

Two men and one woman from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare are due in today on racial integration. McCullough reported. He added there is a new set of guidelines for 1967-68, and to be virtually unchanged from this year's except that the freedom of choice plan is to begin this Jan. 1.

Payment was approved of $38,336 to the city for connecting the new utility system. The sum was said to run within $40 of the estimate with $11,348 for the water connection and $27,390 for sewers.

Trustees decided to leave insurance coverage of school property as it is, at least for the duration of the current three-year policies. Question over allocation of the $2 million worth of coverage on a 60-30-30 split among three insurance firms who have done business with the board for a number of years was raised at the December meeting.

After almost an hour of rehashing this month, including study of two recent "guilt" letters, trustees rejected 3-2 a plan to modify the arrangement. They left in force for three years from Nov. 6, 1966, the coverage allocated 60 per cent to Hancock Agency as agent of record and 20 each to Merchants and Trevel Agency.

Attempting to resolve the matter, Trustee Frank Wheeler finally suggested retaining the agent of record every three years among the trio of participating firms. His proposal to rescind the action of November and retain the previous 60-30-30 split. Charles Thomas seconded. These two voted for the plan. Opposed were Paul Hanley and Teddo Thomas who said they favored a change only if other agents not limited for a share of the business. Hamilton joined in the opposition.

At one stage, Hanley suggested 60 per cent to Hancock and 12 per cent to each of the other five firms which might qualify. He added Coastal, Mitchell and Kergoien to the existing list.

Mrs. J.R. Shadoin, Hancock Agency manager, in a letter transmitted Monday to the board, noted that until 1961 when the 60-30-30 scheme was set up at a savings of $7,961.75, the schools had had 31 different insurance policies. She noted that Trevel, which has spearheaded objections, has a

D. (Back) Reynolds

Reverend (Back) Reynolds, 64, of Pearlington, Miss., died unexpectedly last Thursday in Percy Memorial Hospital at Ocean Springs.

A native of Hattiesburg, Mr. Reynolds was a heavy equipment operator for Cooper Construction Co., and had operated the White House Cafe at Pearlington. He was a member of the Masonic Diamond Lodge No. 393 and the First Southern Baptist Church at Pearlington.

Survivors are his wife of Pearlington; one son, James David Reynolds, Pearlington; five daughters, Mrs. Drud Whittingham, Raceland, La.; Mrs. William Hughes, Houston, Tex.; Miss Margaret Reynolds, Miss Wanda Tilton Reynolds and Mrs. Jody Leland, all of Pearlington; his mother, Mrs. Callie W. Reynolds, Pearlington; two brothers, Burl Landrum, Laurel, and Vera Landrum, Waynesboro, and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services were Saturday at McDonald Funeral Home, Pearlane, followed by religious rites in the First Southern Baptist Church at Pearlington with Revs. William Fordham and John Warden officiating. Interment was in Napoleon Cemetery.

battery charges involving a Beant man at a U.S. 90 cafe. Walter Thomas Benoit and Andrew L. Thompson were charged with burglary at the Engman place on Beolter Street.

Marshall Douglas Seal, indicted at the September term for grand larceny, pleaded guilty at the opening of court Monday and drew two years in the penitentiary, suspended on good behavior for that period.

Trial of John Lee, Jr., previously indicted for child desertion, pleaded not guilty and his case was set for Jan. 14. Circuit Clerk Lamar Otto score in Judge Grant and the court reporter, Mrs. M. L. Tootle, at the start of the term Monday. The judge was re-elected last November.

60-20-20 split as agent of record for coverage of Our Lady of the Gulf School and St. Joseph Academy, Mrs. Shadoin also cited the study made by Astma Insurance at her request which resulted in the plan adopted in '61.

To an inquiry from Charles Thomas, McCullough said there had been no correspondence from Merchants Agency. Questioned by Hanley as to the propriety of the board president being vice president of the agency of record, Griffin suggested it might be wise to remove himself from the insurance post. The matter had been raised last month by the Trevel Agency.

Advertising was authorized for two pick-up trucks with a trade-in on one, and an alternative of one new one. McCullough explained the elementary schools now have one, Bay Junior High another and Volcan C. Jones the third while the new senior high is without any. The decision to seek prices on two was because of raising repair bills on one of the three old ones.

Noting previous grand juries have recommended road signs be erected at certain places on the highway, they noted that the matter be put before the board of supervisors and Highway Commissioner John D. Smith. The county superintendent of education was requested to have speed signs put in the vicinity of Hancock North Central and other rural schools including Amundson School at Kila. Similar limits should be established and marked near churches.

The school board also should have clear inspection of two buses and their operating condition with regard to safety, the report declared.

Because of poor drainage approaches to Hancock Central Hospital, the jury recommended raising the level at least three feet to culverts can be installed. Otherwise they recommended operation and maintenance of county properties and reiterated complaints of overcrowding in the Courthouse, noting this time they had to meet in the superintendent of education's office.

Others on the grand jury were Joe Oliver, George LeMont Miller, Norman Williamson, A. J. Garcia, President Chandler Reynolds, Hollis Lee, Jr., Eugene Joseph Leiner, Lawrence Lind, Leslie J. Nease, A. J. Carver, Wilson Leiner, Edward G. Virgillito, Jerry L. Malley, Carver James Spiera, Harold E. Cospelich and Wesley Leiner.

Torgerson, to positions of honor beside their maid.

Another fanfare heralded the appearance of King Nereid I, who later introduced Mrs. Herlihy to his court. Entertainment was by the Star Twirlers, square dance club.

A grand march, prearrangements, court walk and dance drill preceded the four maskers' call-out dance. Guests then participated in general dancing.

St. Clare's parish hall was the setting for the queen's supper and dance, which began on the stroke of midnight.

Music for both events was furnished by the Stylismo.

W. Ray Gordon was general chairman; Hamilton Doyle, chairman; Dr. O.J. Mallory, vice chairman; C. L. McCray, Jr., Lucien Cox, Jr., James Travira and Frederick Bourgeois, committeemen.

Joseph L. Wymer headed the reception committee with Samuel Blanchard as vice chairman assisted by Hamilton Guarnard, III; D. E. Wilcox and Joseph Calovini.

Marlin Martel was floor chairman; James Lagasse, vice chairman, and Donald Landry, Albert Grass and Henry Daville, committeemen.

Maybe our '67 Pontiac is breaking sales records because people don't want to wait until '68 for a copy.

Our engineers have become used to seeing their ideas show up on other cars. Two years later. And apparently so have a lot of car buyers. Because 1967 Pontiacs are selling faster than 1966 Pontiacs. And '66 was a record year.

When you think about it, why should you wait around for innovations like our disappearing windshield wipers? Or for imaginative options like our exclusive head-mounted tach? Especially when you consider that our engineers wouldn't turn a Pontiac loose with anything less than a standard 400 cubic inch V-8. Or a Tempest with anything less than our revolutionary Overhead Cam Six. (Not to mention all those new safety features like GM's energy absorbing steering column and a dual master cylinder brake system with warning lamp.)

In short, our engineers seem to have done it again. They may even start asking for royalties on the copies.

Teen Times

After two weeks of enduring the cold, many of the teens who come up as always with lots of juicy items. Some other than Joanne Ruthford, of course. We truly appreciate her efforts, but honestly, don't you think it's high time when pitched in and helped?

The big news sports-wise in the manner in which the Tigers played their last game in the old gymnasium when they defeated the Springfield. The biggest news to Mike Needham's performance. He broke the county scoring record by a margin of 62 points.

John Nalhuon is due a big win with having been one of the many flu victims last week. Now to catch up on some Christmas-type items. Some very generous this year. Nancy Davis received diamond earrings and clothes; Elaine Favre's best friend gave her a bracelet and the other received a volley ball and a Kirby Everet found a clock radio and clothes under her tree.

Gabe Favre presented his baby, Elaine Yarbrough, with perfume and Santa brought her earrings and perfume. Day's current to spending a day's sports car. John wouldn't like to find such a gift under his tree?

Wanda Garcia and Gerald Rayford have left the realm of Teen Times having been wed on Saturday, Dec. 17.

Happy birthday greetings go to Jimmy Rutherford who was 20 on Jan. 2, and to Alan Ruffinoff. He'll cut his 16th cake on Wednesday, Jan. 18. It appears that at least a dozen girls received engagement rings as a Christmas gift. Maybe we'll be able to reveal names at a future date.

Sorry to hear that Tim Craig's holidays were marred by a bad cold operation, Dec. 28 at Hancock General.

MYSTERY OF THE WEEK - What is the reason friends are calling Ronnie Number 1 Boy these days? We're told it all began a couple of weeks ago at Stechmann's farm.

Speaking of Stechmann, who is the young man whose letters Beverly reads so intently that she seems to be unaware of rain, wind, etc.?

Mary Ann Becker says she's feeling fine, although she certainly looks uncomfortable in the neck brace she's utilized with for another couple of weeks.

As Janet Trepont's wedding draws ever nearer she's so busy she seems to meet her self going and coming. She is to be complimented on the efficient manner she's handling invitations, thank you notes and all the other pre-wedding details.

A group of classmates entertained at a bridal shower honoring Sharon Paulson, who is to wed Lloyd Cusano, Stella Woods' Nicholson Avenue home was the scene of the party on Monday, Jan. 11.

GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY - Mr. and Mrs. L.W. Padden, whose golden wedding anniversary to Wednesday, Jan. 10, will observe the occasion with a reception for friends Friday this Sunday, at their Victoria Lane home.

City Echoes

Miss Janet Trepont and her fiancé, Harold Hix, were faced at a dinner given Sunday by her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Trepont, at their home on Comstock Drive, New Orleans. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Trepont, parents of the bride-elect; Mr. and Mrs. Earl DeMurey, her uncle and aunt, and Mrs. George Anderson.

Carl and Mrs. Marcel Gillin have returned from Rome, Ga., where they visited their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Restorick, who are moving east to make their home in Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. Arthur Lotocano returned this week from a holiday visit with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. Jacobs, and family of Morro, La.

Music, library, school topics at Annunciation

Dancing, piano, organ and guitar lessons will all form part of the Spring Music Program at Annunciation School, Kila.

Miss Betina Beuchamp, will instruct the dancing class; Miss R.K. Ketchum, piano and organ; and Miss Margaret Johnson, guitar.

Although exact starting dates have not been set, it is expected lessons will commence after the semester examinations.

Need 7 more for refresher course for RNs

At least seven more students are needed for the refresher course for registered nurses planned early this year at Hancock General Hospital, according to Mrs. Nolan Lashner, director of nursing.

Pearl River Junior College which would supervise the course requires 15 persons. Only eight have signed so far, Mrs. Lashner said.

Meanwhile a six-week course for nurses aides is to begin the first week in February. Persons interested must have an eight grade education and meet aptitude tests. There is no charge and application should be made to Mrs. Lashner at the hospital or the Mississippi State Employment Service at Gulfport.

One new registered nurse joined the staff this week, bringing the total of full-time RNs to 11 to cover the three shifts. The addition is Mrs. Sue Frederick, whose husband, Jerry, has been transferred from Pascagoula to Waveland by the telephone company.

Biggest nursing need right now is for licensed practical nurses, Mrs. Lashner said.

The Krewes of Nereida truly out did themselves when they presented their first ball on Saturday in St. Joseph Academy gymnasium. The occasion was a grand success and the area has at last come up with an event to remember. It will eventually become one of the biggest social occasions on the coast. A MESSAGE OF EXTREME IMPORTANCE TO THOUGHTFUL MISSISSIPPIANS . . .

from: Jack Watson, President
Mississippi Power Company

They're Throwing Away Some More Of Your Money!

The Mississippi Public Service Commission has granted a request of South Mississippi Electric Power Association to build a federally-financed and tax exempt $36 million system to generate and transmit electric power in Southeast Mississippi. This project is absolutely unnecessary, will result in unreasonable tax losses to our state, and impose higher electric costs on a large number of REA co-op member-consumers.

This "super co-op" proposes to sell power to four REA distributing co-operatives, Dixie Electric Power Association, Laurel, Pearl River Valley EPA, Columbia; Singing River EPA, Lucedale; and Southern Pine EPA, Taylorsville. For over 30 years, Mississippi Power Company and Mississippi Power & Light Company have supplied at low wholesale rates all of the electric needs of these REA distributing co-ops. We have offered to continue to do so in the future, but they seem determined to build a federally-subsidized system that is totally unneeded and will not supply electricity to a single person that is not now served or who cannot otherwise be adequately served in the future.

This project is the forerunner of even larger expenditures planned by REA-financed co-operatives to increase and expand unnecessary, subsidized, and tax-exempt facilities. These expenditures would multiply proportionately the interest and tax burden imposed on the taxpayers.

HIGHER POWER COSTS FOR REA CO-OP MEMBER-CONSUMERS

It is almost unbelievable that the four distributing co-ops have entered into contracts under which they would have paid the "super co-op," had it been in operation, $570,000 or 31 percent more for their service during the past 12 months than they actually paid us for the same service. The 40-year contracts are not subject to the jurisdiction of either a state or federal regulatory commission.

STAGGERING TAX LOSSES

The people of Mississippi are entitled to know that with present tax practices and at rates applicable to our company, this initial tax-exempt facility, if built, will deprive their cities, counties, school districts, and the state treasury of over $15 million in tax revenues over the next 35 years, and the federal government will lose over $14 million in income taxes.

ENORMOUS INTEREST SUBSIDY

Every citizen should be deeply disturbed to know that the federal government, which now pays well in excess of 4 percent for the money it borrows, plans to lend, at 2 percent interest, $36 million to construct this project under a 35-year loan. This loan will mean a direct loss to the United States Treasury of another $15 million in interest costs alone — and this in addition to the tax loss.

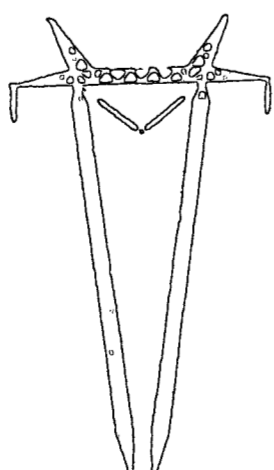

HOW WILL IT AFFECT YOUR FUTURE?

It is extremely discouraging to us, as we work so persistently for Mississippi's economic progress and seek out-of-state private investment for constructing new industries, to see higher electric costs unnecessarily imposed on a large area of our state, unreasonable tax losses suffered by local governmental institutions, and an additional tax burden imposed upon our fellow citizens.

State and local officials, chambers of commerce, and many other private organizations have worked diligently and effectively to develop a favorable business and industrial climate in Mississippi. We believe that their accomplishments will be seriously undermined if federally-subsidized, tax-exempt organizations continue to be given unwarranted preference over investor-owned, tax-paying enterprises.

WHAT YOU CAN DO ABOUT IT

No doubt this is a matter of concern to many of the citizens of our state, and I urge them to make known their views to their duly elected city, county, and state officials. Concerned REA co-op members should explore this matter with the managers of their associations. Unwise and uneconomical projects such as this can only be stopped by the concerted protest of thoughtful citizens.

Rough trip

Joan and Gordon Glavin have come to the conclusion that the time was "right" when they decided they would go for a long vacation with their daughter, Allison, husband, Sam Hurd, and daughter, Penny and (oops, don't remember the younger's name) in Atlantic City, N. J. The day they arrived, via jet, only one landing strip was open. A 12 inch snowfall hit them that night. Driving was under-standably hazardous. When they arrived they found that in addition to snowing from a storm, Allison had ordered a very popular full hall the day before, and wasn't holding very Christmas. Then Joan picked up the virus, and still feels miserable. The drive back to the airport wasn't too bad, when they arrived in New Orleans, on Monday, Gordon discovered he had a flat tire on the car, but at least, which made them just late enough to fight Super Bowl traffic all the way home.

Things have been going somewhat better for Advancement League members, but the 's not breaking any new ground, or walking under red clouds, never-the-less.

Animal notes

The Jimmy Layton family is still concerned over their latest loss with great sadness. Their lovely blue cat, Collette, Angel produced the first one of her two first litter pups, which was a much off-beat, a fact which a few hours after Christmas, Jimmy and Joan, produced no more. The first kitten, which was a white cat, was named, and this one was doing well.

Another happy ending. Anne and Gilbert Gaynes and family were once happy to read about the small dog found by Herman and Thelma Ford as it seemed one to be their little Miss for which they had been searching desperately. When Anne placed Thelma, she placed, and the cat was in the house, he jumped to his feet and came to Thelma's feet, and he was a happy cat.

PERMS AND BUNDS A-DOING THE WAY - Collette, their lovely blue cat, is still producing no more. The first kitten, which was a white cat, was named, and this one was doing well.

March of Dimes volunteers who broved the elements to hear their cause included, Miss Walker, Valda Placinta, Kathleen McAtley, Sherie Davis, Mary Burke, Don Binger, John Stewart.

Brian Russell, Chris Douglas, Laurie Bower, Pam Fife and David Gallagher.

Next March of Dimes campaign is planned, either then further highway and individual collections, in a drive tentatively scheduled for Friday Jan. 27, at a time and place to be announced.

Safety sidior inspection time here again

The 1967 vehicle inspection period began Jan. 1, and will end March 31, unless any extension of deadline, T.E. Sherrill, public safety coordinator, said yesterday.

It will be some time as the year will be checked - brakes, lights, steering, drive, windshield wipers, horn and gas.

Many shops are available for motorists to get their vehicles in shape for the new driving year, he said.

Ed Morgan, director of the Highway Patrol's vehicle inspection division, reports that approximately 1,500 inspections will be made.
